EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Mr. Henry Blanco White on 9/10/2008.

2. The application has been amended as follows:

A/ Claims 49, 54, and 56-65 have been canceled;

B/ In claim 43:

(i) lines 1-2, "of creating stereochemical deformations in the molecules of a given fluid" should be replaced by --for preventing the deposit of incrustations of water or improving the combustion efficiency of a fuel for a heat engine--;

(ii) line 3, "the given medium fluid" should be replaced by --said water or fuel;

(iii) lines 5 & 7, "the given medium" should be replaced by --said water or fuel--;

(iv) between lines 7 and 8, insert --wherein at least one of said magnetic fields is generated by a said coil or pair of coils having a ferromagnetic core to close the magnetic fields generated by said coil or pair of coils--;

C/ In claim 48, line 2, replace "the fluid" with --said water or fuel--;

D/ In claim 50, lines 2 & 3, "the given medium" should be replaced by --said water or fuel--;

Art Unit: 1794

E/ In claim 51, lines 3-4, “having a core of a ferromagnetic substance to close the magnetic fields generated by said coils” should be changed to --having a ferromagnetic core--;

F/ In claim 52:

(i) lines 1-2, "given medium is a limestone water, the application" should be replaced by --water is a limestone water, and the application--;

(ii) line 3, delete “on the walls of pipes, boilers, etc.”;

G/ In claim 53:

(i) “in which ..... combustion efficiency” should be replaced by --wherein the method is a method of improving combustion efficiency of a fuel for a heat engine--.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 43-45, 48, 50-53 are allowed.
4. The following is an examiner’s statement of reasons for allowance: no prior art has been found to teach, disclose, or fairly suggest a method for preventing the deposit of incrustations from water or improving the combustion efficiency of fuel for a heat engine, comprising the steps of varying the amplitude of a first and a second magnetic fields over time in a manner that the resultant of said magnetic fields is moving in a field plane having an amplitude which is variable over time and a direction moving at a variable angular velocity; in combination with all of the other limitations in claim 43. The examiner is relying on Applicants’ arguments on page 9, 1st-3rd paragraphs, of the Remarks as the basis for allowance.
5. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue

fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

McCormick (US Pat. 3,473,108) is cited of interest. McCormick discloses a process of treating a fluid, in which the fluid is passed through a detection system. The detection system employs means for generating a constant, unidirectional magnetic field transverse to the flow path of the fluid, means for establishing a constant amplitude, alternating magnetic field in the direction transverse to to unidirectional field; wherein the alternating field having a gradient along the flow path (see abstract; col. 51-72). However, the reference does not teach the criticality of varying the amplitude of the first and second magnetic fields over time as recited in the presently claimed invention.

7. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Thao T. Tran whose telephone number is 571-272-1080. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday-Friday, from 9:00 a.m. - 5:30 p.m..
